GENERAL NEWS.

Death of Dr. Kalloch, Ex-Mayor of San Francisco.

REVIEW OF HIS CAREER.

Announcement of the New Transcontinental Freight Rates.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

SEATTLE, December 9.—A special to the Post, says: Dr. I. S. Kalloch, ex-mayor of San Francisco, died at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at his residence in New Whatcom, of diabetes, after a lingering illness of several months. Dr. Kalloch has been a resident of Bellingham bay for the past four years and was Superintendent of the Bellingham Bay Railway during that time. In 1883 he went to Whatcom. At that time the town was having a boom and Dr Kalloch invested quite heavily there at the time of his death he had quite important interests in the vicinity.

HIS HISTORY.

[Doctor Kalloch first made his appearance in San Francisco in 1876. He was a native of Maine and at one time minister of a Baptist church in Boston. He was forced to leave his incumbency by a scandal which arose concerning him and one of the lady members of his congregation and proceeded to Kansas, where he interested himself in railroad circles, leaving there for California, under it is said similar circumstances to those which induced his departure from Boston. In San Francisco he established himself at the tabernacle founded by the father of J. B. Lankershim, of this city, on Fifth street, opposite the mint, and soon attracted large audiences there by his electrical and eloquent orations. He espoused the cause of the workingmen, and, irrespective of religious dogmas, they flocked to hear his discourses in such numbers that on Sunday evening the tabernacle was always filled to overflowing. In 1879 he decided to run for Mayor of the city, and was immediately attacked by Charles De Young of the San Francisco Chronicle, who published a pamphlet purporting to be a history of Kalloch's life in the East. It contained a glaring account of the circumstances of Kalloch's emigration and created much excitement at the time of its publication. Kalloch replied by stump speeches in which he rated the De Young family in the most violent terms. An incident then followed which terminated the proceedings in an unexpected manner. Kalloch was the next day informed that a lady in a coupé desired to speak to him, and he proceeded from his chamber to the sidewalk where he saw a closed carriage. He approached it and De Young suddenly appeared at its window, and pointing a pistol directly at Kalloch's breast, fired. He fell, though not fatally wounded, and his iron constitution and robust frame soon had him restored to health again. At the election he was elected Mayor by an overwhelming majority, due, it is said, to the affair with De Young. A tragic sequel followed, which is fresh in the minds of all San Franciscans. Kalloch's son, who was much incensed at the publication of the pamphlet purporting to give his father's history came in town from his residence in the country, determined to avenge the wrong done to his name. He proceeded to the Chronicle office, engaged in an altercation with De Young and shot him dead. He was acquitted.—[ED. HERALD.

Action was brought by plaintiff to recover $42,000 for money loaned. Defendant acknowledged owing $34,250 and was willing to allow that judgment be entered for that amount which offer was accepted by Wertheimer.

BERNAL'S BANDITS.

The Mexican Government Striving to Suppress Them.

NOGALES, A. T., December 9—The Mexican government is making strenuous efforts to effect the capture of Bernal and his outlaws, and most all of the troops of the States of Sonora and Sinaloa, as well as large bodies of citizens, are in the field. The troops surprised one bandit camp, but were forced to retreat. Being reinforced, another attack was made and several bandits were killed and the rest put to flight. The Federal loss is two killed and three wounded. Bernal's army is divided into two or three parties. It is thought that the Chief is not now with his forces, but hiding, though still directing the movements of his men. It is thought that the troops have hedged in most of the men and report of a desperate battle is hourly expected. Nearly the whole of Sonora and Sinaloa is up in arms and much excitement prevails.

AN ANIMATED QUARREL.

Its Fatal Results—One Man Dead, the Other Dying.

RED BLUFF, December 9.—A quarrel occurred this evening between George Scott, colored, and Bill Edwards, about some chickens, when Edwards drew his revolver and shot Scott through the body. Scott then fired at Edwards, shooting him twice, once in the body and the second shot through the brain, killing Edwards instantly. Scott lies at Mrs. Edwards' house and is not expected to live. He is spitting blood and will probably die before morning. It is said that the shooting was about chickens that Scott was catching for Mrs. Edwards. Edwards claimed the chickens and told Scott not to catch them. Edwards and his wife had separated and the latter was about removing to Sacramento where her brother lives.

National Fisheries.

GLOUCESTER, December 9.—At a meeting of the American Fishery Union, called to consider the best course to adopt in the interest of the fisheries, a letter from Secretary Maddock, of the National Fishing Association, at Washington, was read regarding the commission now in session. When their report was submitted, foreign fish would, he said, be put on the free list.

Colored Colonists.

ANDERSON, December 9.—A colored colony of 20 men and 22 women and children arrived this evening, and go to Shingleton, 20 miles east of here to-morrow. They have already secured land and will follow farming. They are intelligent and belong mostly to the Baptist Church. They say that a large number will follow.

Fatal Foolhardiness.

PORT TOWNSEND, December 9.—Three seamen, members of the Seamens' Union, under the influence of liquor, attempted to board the barkentine S. G. Wilder, lumber laden, from Port Ludlow for Honolulu, during a gale. The boat capsized and the occupants, Andrew Olsen, Tilleson and Robert Henry, were drowned. The bodies were recovered and will be buried to-morrow.

HARPER'S STORY

A Sweeping Denial of the Other Testimony.

POSITION OF THE FIDELITY.

He Says That its Funds Were Not Used in Operating the Chicago Wheat Deal.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

CINCINNATI, December 9.—This proved to be the most important day in the Harper trial. Harper testified in his own behalf and stated unreservedly that he never gave an order of any kind to Eckert to buy grain for him in Chicago, and he was equally sweeping and explicit in saying that he never authorized Wilshire to buy grain for him in Chicago or elsewhere. This is the point of the whole case and in direct conflict with the testimony offered by Wilshire and Eckert. Witnesses then asked permission to explain Wilshire's check for $10,000 in October, but was stopped by the Court. He said that it was not given for the wheat deal but to pay bonds which Wilshire hypothecated without authority. Wilshire had mortgaged property for $140,000 and explained to him that he did so to make good that sum of money taken from his father's estate and sunk by him in wheat. He explained also how he

DISCOUNTED LEWIS' NOTE

At Wilshire's suggestion, and after again denying that a dollar of the bank's money or his own went into the wheat deal, went on to tell of the crash, how Wilshire and Hopkins followed him to Boman's, where he dines, and with tears in their eyes begged him to let them have more money. Hopkins suggested telegraphing to the bank in Chicago to see how much they would take to carry the deal through, and Hopkins sent such a telegram to the American Exchange Bank of Chicago. When witness returned from dinner he found a telegram on his desk from that bank saying that if Wilshire was there next morning with $600,000 it would be safe. That was where Kershaw & Co. had their account. He told how Wilshire, Hopkins and he talked the matter over. Hopkins had

A LETTER OF CREDIT

For $200,000 and four drafts on the Chemical Bank of New York for $100,000. Wilshire was afraid to carry the money lest it be attached, and it was arranged that Gahr should go with him. Gahr was instructed not to give up the money without guarantee.

The second note was in cipher and Harper said it related to the same sort of transaction.

The third note he explained by saying that Wilshire told him he had to pay for a lot of wheat on May 1st. "He wanted me," said Harper, "to furnish money for this purpose, and I refused. I advised him to sell May wheat and buy June and pay the difference. He asked me to write a memorandum telegram to that effect, saying: 'Please change that May wheat I have not provided for to June and July; my principal has decided,' etc. He represented to me that he was buying largely for Cleveland parties, and that is what I suppose he referred to in the words, 'my principal.'"

NOT YET SATISFIED.

It seemed like presumption after the sweeping denial of Harper that he had ever in any way ordered Wilshire to buy wheat for him in Chicago or elsewhere for his counsel to hand him to-day three notes bearing the initials "O. K. H.," and ask him to explain. Harper said that when Wilshire, in March, still owed the bank and him those large sums, he insisted on his selling out his wheat so as to pay his debts. Wilshire said that to do so safely he should buy wheat that day to keep up the market and then he could sell out to advantage the next day.

"He asked my advice," added Harper, "and I said to him, 'Make out your order to buy June wheat. If it is all right I'll O. K. it.' Mr. Wilshire sent to the bank this note, saying that he was going to buy that day 180,000 bushels of wheat, and I O. K.'d it. It was no act or account of mine in any shape or form. The books of the bank will show, I think, that he paid the bank a considerable amount of money the next day. I had no purpose whatever in this transaction except to get money for the bank that was owing it by Wilshire."

HARPER BECAME AFFECTED

At this point and went on to say how he put all his money into the bank to save it, only to see the other directors walk in and check theirs out. Only Zimmerman, of all the directors, offered him any assistance. Then the government came in, and the end was reached.

The counsel next asked in detail whether he had ever ordered any wheat transactions with various brokers of Chicago, naming them, and he returned the same answer. In February, 1887, he had a conversation with Hopkins about the Irwin, Green & Co. matter, and told him that he thought it was dishonest. About the $285,000 transaction with the Fidelity Bank he had no knowledge whatever, until told of it in jail at Dayton. Hopkins had transactions through Hoyt with Kershaw & Co., and he was buying to hedge against our losses by Wilshire.

HOPKINS' ACCOUNT.

"I loaned the money to Hopkins," said witness, "and paid the drafts for him, but used my own money and never took a penny out of the bank's funds for this purpose. Hopkins went in $50,000 with another broker and I helped him. This was paid back and the money went into the bank. This was also a hedging operation.

Witness was then examined as to the assets of Swift's Iron and Steel Works, the Riverside Rolling Mill firm of E. E. Harper & Co. and of himself, and said that all the transactions of these firms with the Fidelity Bank were legitimate.

Mr. Blackburn again asked if he had anything to do with Hopkins' wheat deals through Broker Hoyt.

He answered that he paid Hopkins' drafts, but he did it to protect the bank. "I was interested through Hopkins to that extent. We would first protect the interests of the bank, and after that if there was any profit left it was to be divided between Hopkins and myself.

Mr. Blackburn asked, "Did you at any time have any intention in all these transactions to defraud the bank or anybody else?"

"None in the world," was the answer.

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION

Was brief. It brought out the fact that he purchased the certificate of deposit with his own checks, which were not charged to his own account.

Two or three other witnesses were called, mainly to tell about Harper's assets, but the Government counsel dismissed some of them without cross-examination or by drawing from them some damaging testimony.

MILLIONAIRE MORROW.

His Trial to be Commenced on January 24, 1888.

SANTA ROSA, December 9.—The case of the People vs. Morrow came up before Judge Pressley in the Superior Court this evening to be set for trial. The court-room was crowded with spectators. Attorney-General Johnson and Colonel Flournoy appeared for the prosecution, and Foote, Henley and Oates for the defense. The defendant occupied a seat beside his attorneys. Attorney-General Johnson asked to have the case set for December 19th, which met with objection from defendant's counsel and Col. Flournoy as well.

Mr. Foote stated that it was impossible for Hall McAllister to be present for two weeks, as he was engaged in the trial of a case in San Bernardino, and suggested a continuance until the 25th. This did not subserve the convenience of the Attorney-General, who has to depart for Washington on the 25th or 26th, to be present at the argument of the railroad tax case. After argument it was agreed to set the case for trial on the 24th of January, 1888, and the trial will then be proceeded with, unless the Court is notified of the Attorney-General's inability to be present.

THE METAL MARKET.

Great Excitement in Iron—A Copper Syndicate's Offer.

NEW YORK, December 9.—A Boston dispatch says that an eastern metal firm has offered to take the entire products of all the copper mines in this country, except the Calumet and Hecla, for the ensuing year, for 15½ cents per pound. The syndicate apparently intends buying every ton of copper until market prices reach 80c per ton. The extraordinary advance in iron in Glasgow during the last few days has, according to private cables, had the effect of rousing the speculative spirit to an extraordinary pitch. On the other side, New York metal men say that the excitement in the iron market is naturally having a great effect on all subsidiary metals over the whole world.

PROSPECTS OF PEACE.

Probable Settlement of the Indian Territory Troubles.

TAHLEQUAH, I. T., December 9.—A proposition was sent to the Downings last night by the Nationals, asking that the contest of both parties in both Councils be withdrawn and consenting to count the votes the Downings demanded. The vote will be counted at once and the contest will be settled later. Mays has appointed a new set of officers. At the caucus of Nationals resolutions were passed deprecating any attempt at resistance by force of arms and advising peace and moderation, as any other course would hasten the end of the Cherokee government.

SAN JOSE.

Citizens Tired of Supporting the Postoffice.

SAN JOSE, December 9.—Major Culver, Postoffice Inspector, advertises to-day for sealed proposals for furnishing the postoffice building for San Jose. Heretofore rent for the postoffice building has been paid by subscription of merchants. Some subscribers proved negligent in paying and the owners notified the department that after January 1, 1888, the Government must pay rent of $150 per month, which the department will not do.

DROPPED DEAD.

Captain Blackford of Washington Passes Away.

WASHINGTON, December 9.—Captain S. S. Blackford, formerly of the Capitol police, dropped dead on Indiana avenue this evening. Subsequently he became connected with the agricultural department.

PITTSBURG, December 9.—This afternoon President Smith, of the American Flintglass Workers Association, ordered a general strike of tableware workmen, to take effect to-morrow. The strike is to be against the rules and scale adopted by the manufacturers.

Not Guilty.

SIOUX CITY, December 9.—The Arensdorf jury at 9 o'clock this evening returned a verdict of not guilty.

NATIONAL NEWS.

Eastern Editorials on Blaine's Utterances.

SEVERE ADVERSE CRITICISM.

Republicans Making Preliminary Arrangements for the Chicago Convention.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

NEW YORK, December 9.—Commenting on Blaine's message, the Times says: "This, then, is the sum of Blaine's policy, and as he is the leader of the Republican party at present, it must be taken as the policy of the Republicans until they repudiate it, and it would be well for them to hasten to do it. It is not the policy they can go before the people with."

The Tribune says: "Blaine in Europe speaks as an American. Cleveland in America speaks as a British manufacturer, anxious to be admitted without any charge to a share of the best and largest market in the world."

The World says: "The Maine statesman interview is in fact a proclamation that Blaine considers himself to be the chosen champion of protection, and that he is ready to enter the Presidential lists as such. President Cleveland stands for this purpose. Blaine comes forward as the champion of the opposite idea. The Democratic party could not wish for a better issue."

The Sun says: "If Brother Blaine entertains such loose notions of relations between the Federal government and States, it strikes us that he would be a conspicuously unfit person to intrust with the management of the nation's financial affairs."

The Chicago Tribune says: "Blaine, as might have been expected, has presented the high tariff protect on from a partisan point of view as the opposition issue to the President's view on tariff reduction. Blaine's interview will have to stand upon its merits, and it will be indorsed or condemned in accordance with the value of the arguments set forth, and public judgment will not be influenced by the distinguished name behind them. It is the weakest ground Blaine has ever yet occupied, and no national party can expect to go into a presidential campaign on that issue, no matter who may be its leader, and win. The surplus question must be settled in some way and in a different way from what it has been settled. It cannot be settled in accordance with the Blaine idea."

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Republican Caucus to Arrange Preliminary Details.

WASHINGTON, December 9.—The call for the next Republican National Convention is fixed for June 19, 1888. It is issued to the Republican electors in the several States without regard to party affiliations. Believing in the principle of the protection tariff, the development of home industries, and the elevation of home labor, who would reduce the national taxes in harmony with this principle, and who favor naval and coast defenses, and oppose the unjust exclusion of rapidly growing Territories who favor free schools, free ballot and a fair count.

Each State is entitled to four delegates at large, and each congressional district, each Territory and the District of Columbia to two delegates.

SELECTION OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The delegates at large shall be chosen by notice and not less than thirty days before the meeting of the National convention. Congressional, district and territorial delegates shall be chosen in the same manner as the nomination of members of Congress. All notices of contest must be filed with the National committee in writing, accompanied by a printed statement of the grounds which shall be made public.

Chairman Jones appointed the following committee to visit Chicago and appoint a local committee of arrangements and take in charge preparations for the convention: J. D. Clarkson, Iowa; A. L. Conger, Ohio; G. A. Hobart, New Jersey; Powell Clayton, Arkansas; Cyrus Leland, Kansas; Curch Howe, Nebraska; N. W. Caney, Texas. Chairman Jones and Secretary Fessenden are members of the committee, ex-officio. The committee elected J. D. Clarkson chairman of the sub committee with full power to act. It consists of Clarkson, Conger, Clayton, Jones and Fessenden.

THE ATLANTA.

Captain Bunce's Report—Able Advice Proffered.

WASHINGTON, December 9.—The report of Captain Bunce, commanding the cruiser Atlanta, and the endorsement of the bureau officers of the Navy Department upon the subject were made public to-day. The only new phase of the matter is the endorsement of Secretary Whitney, which disposes of the subject in the following language: "The Department deems that the Atlanta should have some continuous service before changes are made." The suggestions of Captain Bunce are valuable and entirely proper, and doubtless without any expectation that the comments upon the ship would be treated as anything else than professional discussion for the benefit of the department in the future. Many criticisms have been discussed heretofore and some well known defects intentionally overlooked by her designers for the purpose of securing benefits in other directions. Aside from her lack of speed she represents a type with merits and defects, and the balance can be struck after she has had service. None of the alleged defects have been produced in subsequent vessels now in course of construction.

A CHICO SCANDAL.

Startling Revelations in a Photographer's Gallery.

CHICO, Cal., December 9.—Ovan Falowski, a photographer, was arrested here last night on the charge of having obscene pictures in his possession. A number of pictures found in his gallery were displayed in the Justice's Court this morning. They included photographs of men, women and children of Chico in a nude state, and also photographs of several young ladies of hitherto respectable standing, in vulgar attitudes. Falowski pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. The citizens are considerably aroused.

McCORD'S TRIAL.

Opening Testimony—Nothing New Developed.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—The taking of testimony in the case of James McCord commenced to-day.

N. J. Brittain testified to a conversation he once had with McCord with regard to the grand jury in the Wright case, at which time McCord said that he was interested in the case and showed witness a list of jurors and asked him if he knew anything about any of them.

Juror Woods repeated the testimony by him at the former trial of McCord, with regard to the attempt which he says was made to influence his vote as a member of the Wright jury.

Frank T. Northey, who had been brought from San Quentin was placed on the stand, but refused to answer any questions.

A number of other witnesses were examined, including F. H. Allen, another juror in the Wright case, who repeated the same testimony as given at the former trial in regard to being approached by Michael Doane, who claimed he was acting under McCord's instructions.

The prosecution then closed and the case was continued till to-morrow.

THE ICY NORTH.

Notes From "the Land of the Midnight Sun."

SITKA, Alaska (via Nanaimo), December 9.—A mail steamer arrived last night with a small mail, a small passenger list and a very small freight.

The weather for a week has been cold and clear, with fresh gales from the northeast.

The United States District Court has been in session for the last week. Several murder cases are to be tried this term. The trial of Fuller, who murdered Archbishop Seghers last summer on the Yukon, has been in progress several days. It was given to the jury two days ago, and up to the present time they have not agreed on a verdict. It is understood that they stand eleven for murder in the first degree, and one for manslaughter.

At Juneau it has been very cold for the past ten days with heavy gales from the North, the thermometer going as low as twelve degrees above zero, which is considered very cold weather at this time of the year.

The Alaska Union Mill and Mining Company has had to close down work for the present, owing to the cold weather. It is reported that they had struck a large body of ore in a tunnel between Treadwell and Bearsnest mine, which mills $5000 to the ton.

There are about 100 men wintering on the Yukon, and there will be about 500 go up from here in the spring.

FRENCH POLITICS.

Goblet Declines to Form a Cabinet—Much Dissent.

PARIS, December 9.—Goblet has informed President Carnot that, owing to the refusal of several statesmen to join him, he is unable to form a cabinet. The President has made another appeal to Folliers to undertake the task and he will give his decision to-night. Dissention among the Republicans continues.

LATER—FOLLIERS AGREES.

The Cabinet is almost completed. Folliers is Minister of the Interior and President of the Council, Rouvier, Member of Finance; Flourens, of Foreign Affairs; Ferron, of War; Berby, of Marine; Spuller, of Public Instruction; Bailiant, of Public Works, Faye, of Justice; Dautresme, of Commerce and Develle of Agriculture.

TIRED OF TYRANNY.

Revolt of the Natives on Ponape Island.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—The ship Alton arrived here from the Island of Ponape, in the Caroline group, to-day and brought information that the natives who had been converted to Christianity by an American Missionary Society had driven the Spanish Governor, lately put there by that country, into the sea and killed him, the trouble being brought about by some order to work. On their resenting he undertook to punish them by standing them in a line and shooting them.

AUSTRIAN AFFAIRS.

Meeting of the Military Council at Vienna.

VIENNA, December 9.—Archduke Albrecht and Count Kalnocky, at a military council held to-day, favored a waiting policy for Austria. General Von Bölk and other officials advised immediate activity. Kalnoky declined to send a note to Russia as this would precipitate matters.

OMINOUS ORDERS.

CRACOW, December 9.—Orders have been issued placing the 5th, 7th, 8th and 11th Russian Army Corps on a war footing.

Colusa Chips.

COLUSA, December 9.—A slander case, in which William Bentz and Miss Barbara Burybacker, both of the Willows, are parties, was commenced in the Superior Court to-day. Miss Burybacker claims $10,000.

Wm. H. Preston, bartender, who shot Peter Corby, ex-bartender, on the morning of November 1st, in Pallas Love's saloon, was found not guilty. The theory is accidental shooting.

Asphyxiated.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—Mrs. W. Carrington, 85 years of age, was found dead in bed to-day, death having been caused by asphyxiation. She failed to close the gas jet properly and owing to the fact that she had lost the sense of smell, did not detect that the gas was escaping.

CHURCH AND STATE.

The President Discourses on Christianity

TO SOME VISITING CHURCHMEN

He Applauds Their Efforts and Speaks of the Good Results of Their Labors.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 9.—At the opening of the session this morning of the Evangelican Alliance, Rev. Philip Schoff, one of the most active workers of the Alliance, spoke but a few minutes, when the session closed in order that the delegates might attend the President's reception.

On arriving at the White House the guests were ushered into one of the reception rooms, and in a few minutes the President made his appearance and was warmly greeted. The delegates were then presented one by one to the President, each each advancing and receiving a cordial grasp of the hand. Rev. Dr. Burchard, of New York, of the "three R's" fame, was among those present. The President recognized him, and advancing towards him, said that he was glad to see him, whereupon the crowd of delegates broke out into laughter.

After the introductions were over, the President addressed the delegates as follows:

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

"I am glad to meet so large a delegation from the Evangelical Alliance of the United States. I understand the purpose of the Alliance to be the application of Christian rules of conduct to the problems and exigencies of social and political life. All must admit that the teaching of Christianity results in the purest patriotism, the most scrupulous fidelity to the public trust and in the best type of citizenship. Those who manage the affairs of the government are by these means reminded that the law of God requires that they should be courageously true to the interests of the people and the ruler of the universe will require a strict account of their stewardship. The people, too, are thus taught that their happiness and welfare will be promoted by

CONSCIENTIOUS REGARD

For the interest of the common brotherhood, and that the success of government by the people depends upon the morality, justice and honesty of the people. I am especially obliged to know that your efforts are not cramped and limited by denomination lines. There is enough work in the field you have entered to enlist the hearty co-operation of all who believe in the value and efficacy of Christian teaching and practice. Your noble mission will surely arrest the attention and respectful consideration of your fellow citizens; and your endeavors, consecrated by benevolence and patriotic love, must exert a powerful influence on the enlightenment and improvement of our people by advancing the prosperity and greatness of our beloved land."

At the conclusion of the address the delegates returned thanks for their reception and retired.

AT THE AFTERNOON SESSION

Rev. Jonah Strong spoke, followed by Frank Russell, D. D., who read a paper on "co-operation in small cities."

Dr. Storrs' paper on "the necessity of co-operation in Christian work" was read by Dr. Chamberlain of Brooklyn, Dr. Storrs being ill.

Bishop Harris was equally opposed to imperialism and socialism. The bible, Sabbath and liberty of conscience must be defended; co-operation should not be political, and church and State must be separate. Christianity must stand for itself against the attacks of ultra montanism.

Rev. Dr. Gladden, of Columbus, Ohio, said the unity in evangelistic labor is good if the allegiance of individuals to a particular church is not destroyed. The best parts of towns have twice as many churches as are needed, and the poorer far too few. The unreasonable demands of workingmen must be modified by reason and love. Missions and a personal activity among the poor is necessary.

ADJOURNED SINE DIE.

The subject of this evening's discussion was: "Individual Responsibility Growing Out of Perils and Opportunities." Rev. Mr. Van Dyke, of New York, said that danger was not to be apprehended from outside influences, but from inertness within the church. Others made short speeches and the meeting adjourned sine die.

UNPARALLELED TRAFFIC.

California Freight Tied up at Ogden.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—Telegrams announce the blockade of westbound California freight at Ogden. Officials, however, say that while the crush of freight at the Utah terminus of the Central Pacific is something unparalleled it does not amount to a blockade, every effort being made to relieve the strain at that point. The California fast freight line is sending to that city about thirty car-loads of freight daily.

Bound to Get Here.

SAN DIEGO, December 9.—It is discovered that Chinese are entering the country from Mexico, four to six at a time, on pack-mules. Nearly every vessel arriving at San Diego from a Mexican port brings one or more, most of them coming on fishing smacks or schooners.

The National Game.

CINCINNATI, December 9.—In a meeting of the American Baseball Association to-day a resolution was adopted raising the admission rate from 25 to 50 cents. A Baseball Reporters' Association was formed here to-day.

Semple's Message.

OLYMPIA, W. T., December 9.—Governor Semple attended in person and delivered his message to the Territorial Legislature this afternoon. It was received with general approval.

DAILY HERALD

GRETTIE ROZELLE

Tells Her Story on the Stand.

HER DEFENSE UNDER WAY.

The Jury Visits the Bed Room Where the Vitriol Was Thrown.

At 10 A. M. yesterday morning Judge Cheney instructed the jury and placed them in charge of Sheriff Crews to be conveyed with Mrs. Rozelle to 229 College street, for the purpose of viewing the place where the crime was said to have been committed.

In the interval the case of Susan V. Webber, assault to commit murder, was called, on a motion to dismiss on the grounds that the defendant had been on trial before for the same offense. It will be remembered that this case was dismissed by the court some weeks ago on the ground that there was a variance in the name of the person upon whom the assault was committed, the complaint alleging the name of the complainant as Jane Doe, when the real name was Mary Magoon. The court at that time ordered a new complaint drawn by the District Attorney. The motion was denied.

A second motion was made, asking that the information be set aside for the reason that the defendant was not legally committed by the magistrate below. Motion denied.

Mr. Gage, the defendant's attorney, here exhausted himself by demurring to the information, alleging as grounds that there were not sufficient grounds alleged in the complaint to hold the defendant. Demurrer overruled.

Monday was fixed as the time to set the date for trial.

At 11 A.M. the Rozelle jury returned and the case was continued by introduction of evidence for the defense. The first witness called was

R. E. MC GREGOR,

Who testified: I was in a drug store on Main street on the 11th of May, and in a conversation with Petrie he said, 'For God's sake don't say anything about this trouble, for Mrs. Rozelle is a respectable woman.' Objected to by the District Attorney. Question waived for the time.

ED. SMITH,

Being called and sworn, testified: I was a Constable in the lower court on the 12th day of May, 1887. I went to the room of Mrs. Rozelle about 8 o'clock that night in company with a couple of reporters. I arrested Mrs. Rozelle and took her to the city court room. Her bail was fixed and I was ordered to take her and her husband back for the night, which I did, and then locked them in their room.

(The witness was requested, and described the room, the relative positions of the furniture, and the burnt spots on the carpet), using the submitted diagram.

Between the bed and the washstand I noticed quite a number of small holes in the carpet and one very large one. On the leg of the bed and on the bureau there were several spots, and on the baseboard and a pile of books which were stacked at the foot of the bed.

Q. Was Mr. Petrie employed here in the city as an engineer?

A. Yes.

Q. Was he discharged from employment for debauching a young girl? Objected to—Objection sustained.

Q. Do you know Mr. Petrie's reputation, and if so what is it—as to chastity and virtue? Objected to.

These questions being material to the case Judge Cheney discharged the jury at 11:45 A. M., in order to hear the argument and cited authority on this question.

It was claimed by the District-Attorney that the admission of evidence attacking the prosecuting witness was not competent, for the reason that the character, whether good or bad, was not a defense for the assault charged, and cannot be proven as a justification.

Attorney's Wells and Crawford argued on behalf of the defense that such evidence was competent and admissable as a defense, it going to support the evidence they would introduce, to the effect that the assault was made in defense, by Mrs. Rozelle, of her honor and chastity, and that it would show a possibility of a provocation, he being a man of bad character.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The argument on the admissibility of evidence relative to Petrie's character was continued by Col. Wells. Judge Cheney, without giving reasons for the same, sustained the objection and excluded the evidence.

Mr. Edward Smith's examination was continued. I have known Mr. Petrie for two years; I used to railroad with him. During the time I knew him here he was a railroad engineer, and he also, for a time, was engineer of one of the city engines. I think he went on to the road after he left the employ of the city. I went to Mrs. Martin's house on the 13th again.

Q. Do you know why Mr. Petrie was discharged?

Objected to. Objection sustained.

Q. Do you know whether Mr. Petrie has been accused?

Objected to. Objection sustained; and the Court stated he wished the counsel for the defense to understand that he was not a fool, and warned them against seeking an answer to a question he had decided to be inadmissible.

Cross Examination—I noticed the rug mentioned when I went to the house to pack the trunks. I found it in the closet. The first night I went there was the night of the 12th. I stopped all night with them as a guard. It was probably three o'clock in the morning when I found the rug, under several newspapers, in the closet. It had a hole eaten in it about the size of my two hands. It exactly fitted the large hole in the carpet.

MR. CHAS. PETRIE.

Being called, testified:

Q. Do you knew Mr. McGregor, and did you have a conversation with him at Hamman's drug store in which you said for God's sake don't say anything about this for Mrs. Rozelle is a respectable woman?

A. I know McGregor, but never made such a statement to him or any one else.

Cross-Examination.—They wanted me to say who it was that threw the vitriol. I would not tell, but told them it happened at 129 College street, but I would rather they would say nothing about the trouble as the folks were respectable people. I had reference to the Martins. At this point in the proceedings a number of depositions from different parties in New York, Mrs. Rozelle's former home and that of her parents, relative to her reputation were read. The deposition are from prominent men and are to the effect that Mrs. Rozelle was from a good family of high social standing, and that in the home of her parents where she resided up to time of her marriage, she bore a reputation that was spotless and above reproach. The affidavits reveal that she was a member of the Reform church and a teacher in the Sunday school, where she was general favorite and stood high as an intelligent and pure-minded woman. The depositions were some ten or twelve in number, and are from lawyers, real-estate dealers, bankers and other business men.

being sworn testified: I am a practicing physician. I attended Mrs. Rozelle on the 5th of February, and continued to visit her until about the 20th. I visited her nearly every day. She was confined to her bed the most of the time.

Cross-examination: I do not know whether she was up during the time. She had fever, and after the fever subsided suffered from nervous prostration. Her trouble was of a female character, and was such as to confine her to her bed for some time.

Mr. McGregor recalled for a witness for the defense testified: On the 12th of May I had a conversation with Mr. Petrie at the drug store on Main street relative to the trouble. He did not say, "My God, say nothing about it, for Mrs. Rozelle is a respectable woman."

MRS. GRETTIE ROZELLE

Was then sworn and testified on her own behalf.

She manifested the same fearlessness and nerve that she has shown through the entire trial. She told her story in a clear voice and in a deliberate manner. She said:

My name is Mrs. Grettie Rozelle; I reside at the County Jail. On the 11th of May I resided at 129 College street. On that day, between the hours of two and three P. M., I was not feeling well, so laid down on the bed. At four o'clock I got up, went for water, washed and was standing at the bureau powdering my face, when I saw the door open. I thought it was my husband, but when I looked around I saw it was Mr. Petrie. I asked him what he wanted. He said, "Oh, I want to get acquainted and have a little visit." I said: "You never come here when my husband is at home and you can not come now." He came up and threw his arms around me. Threw me on the bed. I tried to scream, but he placed his hand over my mouth. I then struggled and escaped, rushed to the window, tried to open it, but the screen prevented me. I turned to see if I could escape by the door, but Petrie was between myself and the door. He said, "Oh, there is no use of you making such a fuss about nothing; come here or I will come to you." As he advanced I reached for the bottle on the bureau and threw it in his face. I did not know what it was, for I was very much excited.

Cross-examination: Mr. Rozelle had gone up town that afternoon. The trouble happened about 4 o'clock. I was at the glass powdering my face when the door opened. When I first saw him he was standing in the door. The first remark I make was, "What do you want?" He then shut the door and came in. I was standing between the bureau and the foot of the bed when Petrie came in. Petrie came direct to me after he shut the door, grasped me around the waist and threw me on the bed. I fell in a sitting posture. I made a noise and he put his hand over my mouth. I don't remember what he said, but he said something about choking me. I then struggled and released myself and rushed to the window with the intention of opening it in order to call for help. I could not get the screen up. I looked to see if I could get out of the room, but Petrie was sitting on the bed between myself and the door. He got up and said, "This is a small thing to make such a fuss about; come here or I will come to you." He came towards me and I reached for the bottle and threw its contents in his face. I don't know anything about what I threw on Petrie. The papers said it was vitriol. I knew what my husband told me about it. He said it was a burning substance. When I threw it at him I did not know it was the substance my husband had told me about. I wanted to get the man out of my room. All I did was to grab the bottle and throw it. I did not look to see what part of his person it struck. He went out as soon as I threw the substance. I ran downstairs after Petrie went out and saw Mr. Gibson with him. I then ran up again but soon returned and ran over to Mrs. Mulleys.

At this time it being 4 o'clock and the court wishing to inform himself relative to the question whether any evidence not brought out in direct examination could under a new ruling be adduced on cross-examination, an adjournment until 10 A. M. was ordered.

An Important Feature of Southern California.

The most charming hotel in Southern California is situated—much to the advantage of Los Angeles—at Santa Monica, and is called the Hotel Arcadia. Every advantage of ocean and land view has been grasped by the architect of this modern caravansary.

Its natural advantages are climatic and scenic. The days and nights are warm, the temperature changing but little in the twenty-four hours. On the ocean side of the hotel, in the sun rooms, the temperature is from 75 to 80 degrees. At present writing, on the land side, on the ranchos, it is from 67 to 72. Hundreds of people bathe daily in the open sea, the beach being one of the most celebrated surf beaches in America. The beach stretches for miles along the shore, and the drive on the beach, as well as to the canyons and along the hill sides, is picturesque and enjoyable.

The hotel itself is a model of comfort and elegance. We have but to mention a few of the advantages to give our readers an idea of its conveniences. It contains a steam elevator, gas, electric bells, hot and cold water, hot salt water baths in the house, surf bathing within twenty yards of the house, 600 feet of wide covered porches surrounding the house, as well as the sun porch which is a feature for invalids. Not an inside room in the house. The dining room and parlors overlook the ocean. The house is elegantly furnished and the service and table have no superior anywhere. It is indeed one of the few all round year resorts in the world.

Three trains by the Southern Pacific Railroad are run to and from Santa Monica daily, and at such hours as will accommodate persons who wish to do business in Los Angeles and enjoy the comforts of the above described locality of the Hotel Arcadia.

SAM SMALL'S BROTHER.

Why Did God Make So Much Outdoors?—Two Women's Experiences.

"Sam Small Evangelist!"

The proverbial philosophy of "Old Si," the venerable plantation darkey who gave to the world, through the medium of Small's pen, maxims of worldly wisdom clothed in a verbiage of irresistable humor, has found a permanent place in humerous literature.

Great surprise was shown when it was announced that he, having been converted under the ministrations of Sam Jones, would become an evangelist.

At first, though, a humorist in the pulpit seems incongruous. Is it really so?"

No doubt the mere buffoon attempting to turn men's hearts to solemn truths would meet with only contempt. But truth is not hidden in gloom. Genuine humor frequently illustrates and fastens in the mind bits of wisdom that would otherwise pass unheaded.

In his eulogy of Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. Dr. Parker says: "Whenever he came among, he brought June sunshine and music, and made ever desponding and surly men feel that a fuller and warmer summer, 'the Kingdom of Heaven itself was at hand.'" That is genial christianity.

Mr. Small belongs to a witty family. He has a brother connected with Armoy Knox's and "Fat Contributor's" Texas Siftings, a paper which has had phenomenal success in the field of humorous literature. Mr. Frank A. Small is the present representative of that popular paper in England, and like his distinguished brother, he takes a deep interest in the welfare of other people.

Under date of 48 Porten Road, Kensington, W. London, Eng., Sept. 27, 1887, he writes: "While at Yalding in Kent yesterday, I met Prof. S. Williams, Head Master of the Cleaves Endowed school. In the course of conversation about America, Professor Williams remarked that Warner's safe cure had been of great benefit to his wife, who had been much troubled with a disordered liver. Warner's safe cure (an American preparation), was all she had taken, and she had experienced none of her old trouble for some months past.

Mrs. Annie Jenness-Miller, editor of New York Dress, and a very popular woman in the fashionable world says in her own magazine for October: "Warner's Safe Cure is the only medicine I ever take or recommend. In every instance it gives new energy and vitality to all my powers." This distinguished woman always says that for ladies this great remedy is "peculiarly effective."

Sam Small is likely to succeed as a moral teacher. When we remember how near together in human nature lie the fountains of laughter and of tears, the deep effect his discourses must have on the masses can easily be imagined.

"Why did God make so much outdoors?" exclaimed a little girl. We know not. He has made it and we should grow in it, broad, charitable, and genial, judging everything by merit, not by prejudice.

Downey News.

EDITORS HERALD:—The recent rains cast the broadest of smiles on farmer's faces, while the merchants and dealers returned that grin with double interest, knowing the farmer will spend his shekels freely for the bads of Christmas goods which are daily arriving and placed so invitingly for sale. Confectionary and toys are being purchased, and the children of mature years slyly purchase gifts of more pretention and value for some loved one and have them laid away until the Xmas bells shall proclaim the joyful morning.

Emigrants continue to come into our thrifty valley, seeking homes which look to them a summerland in winter. Every house in our town and surrounding country is filled not only with a family, but oftener with two of them making out until houses can be built or homes secured.

Dealers in earth go about Downey as well as other places, seeking whom he may sell a farm to. On every side new buildings are springing up. Several new residences are now rising up amid the once productive orchards.

Our roadmaster has been grading our main streets for the winter travel. The Presbyterian church has been so far completed as to admit of service in it. Sunday School was organized in it last Sabbath, and yesterday the Ladies' Aid Society placed 100 chairs in the house as a beginning toward seating it; and, by the way, Miss Mamie Short, the celebrated elocutionist, will give us an evening's entertainment for the benefit of the Presbyterian church on the 20th inst.

Street paving begins this week by a Los Angeles man, I am told, and none too soon. This climbing up and down rickety porches, all of different heights, is no fun; and, as to looks, it is perfectly execrable.

Our wagon and carriage dealers are coming to the front by laying in some very stylish rigs and family carriages.

A much-needed object is being built—a bakery, and last but not least, is the bootblack stand.

Our new river bridges are still under way, and it is to be hoped will be completed before a heavy rain visits us. Lumber cannot be supplied fast enough for our carpenters around us. The greedy maw of Los Angeles building people holds us back.

NAILED.

A Refutation of an Article in a Texas Sheet.

TYLER, Texas Dec. 3, 1887.

EDITOR HERALD:—Ten years ago I was a resident of Los Angeles and I am traveling all over since and don't stay long in a place, but when I see such a lie as the one I send you, cut to-day from the Dallas News, I always think enough of old California to cut it out and send it back, so if this poor man comes out to our State again they will treat him better, "and tell him the difference there is between harvesting vineyards and the alfalfa six times a year."

In haste, but very respectfully yours. H. HOEING.

Following is the article referred to:

CALIFORNIA OVERRATED.

EVERYTHING OVERDONE AND THE COUNTRY OVERESTIMATED— HEAVY RAINS IN WICHITA.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., December 2.—The News' correspondent approached Capt. J. M. Presler yesterday, who has just returned from California and Lower California, and plied him with questions about that country, the influx of immigration and its advantages and disadvantages.

"I spent two months in San Diego, Colton and the Peninsula of California. Immigrants from nearly everywhere are rushing to these places, and consequently everything is overdone there, just as the country by many is over-estimated. The climate though, is certainly good the thermometer ranging from 60 to 75 deg. above zero almost the year round. The weather, most of the time when I was there, was about such a day as this, dismal and cloudy—neither cold nor hot. Alfalfa is the main crop, excepting, of course, vineyards, and is harvested five or six times a year. The Southern Pacific Railroad is carrying deadloads of people there from New Orleans, Florida and other places, some of whom are mechanics, to get employment, but even the demand for them is pretty well supplied, while others, like myself, are intending to establish some permanent business, met with poor encouragement. The upper half of Lower California, comprising 18,000,000 acres of land, has been purchased by the International Company of Mexico. Land is very high. Raw land sells at $20 per acre. I'll not go to California to live."

It has been raining here with a few intermissions for two days, and it is good for the wheat crops and supplies stock water, which was getting scarce.—[Dallas News.

The Navy.

Secretary Whitney seems determined that we shall have a navy and some sort of coast defenses. His report will be read in a million homes in America with most eminent satisfaction. The Secretary of the Navy is evidently devoting much study and thought to this important subject. The progress made in belligerent naval architecture during the past ten years has been very great, and on lines of radical departure from the mode of construction prevailing until then. Each year has brought forth some discovery which casts all former methods almost into the "Limbo of things forgotten upon earth." The heavy plate-armor of yesterday is all but discarded in the face of the terrible engines of destruction developed in connection with the use of the gigantic forces of new explosives. Fulminate of mercury is to the best gun powder as the effect of a Columbiad to that of a pistol. Fulminates of the higher metals surpass that of mercury as much as it exceeds powder.

All these facts are clearly recognized by Secretary Whitney, and the efforts made to fortify the country at her seaports, and equip her navy, will be made in view of all the latest discoveries of this sort. In a period of rapid and radical transition like the present, the last engine, ship and gun are likely to be the most effective. The new navy which is to carry the starry flag, bids fair, therefore, to rank among the best in the world. Two heavy armor-clad vessels and four new cruisers of the best make and highest speed are asked for. These should be voted by the Congress which has just assembled.

It is gratifying to note that this coast is to receive its due share of attention. The defenseless condition of San Francisco is pointed out, and immediate action is urged to remedy this. Nor is naval warfare in the Pacific the only point which catches the vigilant eye of this able Cabinet officer. He calls attention to the flourishing commerce of the Northern Pacific Ocean which now centers in seaports of the Union; but for which Canada is reaching out with tentacles the sinews for which are furnished by the Mother Country. Mr. Whitney would have something done to enable our merchant marine to compete for this valuable commerce with a view of still attracting it to our ports.

It reminds one of the brave days of old to hear such topics discussed so vigorous and patriotic a tune. The United States with their sixty millions of souls, with their vast natural resources and gigantic productions, do a large proportion of the commerce of the world. The carrying trade is an important enterprise in this international commerce. Time was when a large proportion of this business was done in American bottoms. It is fully time to revive our merchant marine, and withhold from our English friends some portion of the vast revenue derived from this branch of business. It is most gratifying to know that Secretary Whitney believes American shipbuilders can successfully compete with those of the Clyde in all branches of their industry. And most gratifying to learn that the steel of Pacific coast make comes in for special commendatory notice.

Much too Attenuated.

Our esteemed Spring street contemporary, of Republican proclivities, cannot be said to be a "cyclopedia bound in calf." A cyclopedia implies information. It is not a cyclopedia. Neither is it bound in calf. Judging from its persistent endeavors to undo the palpable results of last Monday's election, it would probably be nearer the truth to refer its cuticle to that class used mostly in the saddler's industry. There is a good deal of oil in the original bearer of the skin which is used in that trade, and there is ever still an oily smoothness in all that emanates from the obese brain of our most esteemed neighbor.

In seeking to have the results of the municipal election declared void, he is actuated by a patriotic desire for the public good. A strong partisan hope that a new election might prove less disastrous to his cohorts of course cuts no figure in this unquiet effort to upset the will of the people, and debar twelve men who are elected to seats in the Council and in the School Board from reaping the due rewards of their victory! Oh, no! Certainly not!

If that is not the purpose of all this agitation, then in the name of all the gods at once what is the object in view? Who is questioning the validity of the election excepting a very few bitter partisans who never take defeat with a good grace? If any of you think the election is void why do you not come forward in propria persona and sue out a writ of quo warranto? Is it because that would be putting yourselves in a very sorry position before the people? You perhaps prefer to egg on some simple fool to do what you prefer not to do in your own name. But let not any superserviceable tool be tricked into the commission of an act so unnecessary, unpopular and unjust. After all, a party is only half the people, and the material interests of the whole outweighs ten million times the political advancement of the candidates of any party, where there is no other advantage to be gained by keeping out one man and putting in another. The man who takes upon himself the odious task of seeking to cheat the people of their preferences; or of plunging the city in a series of costly contests, or of numberless special elections, may find his name not the subject of a monument with a eulogistic inscription.

It is very difficult to see how any intelligent person will question the results of Monday's election for patriotic purposes. If the polls had been opened ten hours longer than they were, the results would not have been other than they are.

As to any question arising as to the validity of the acts of the new Council, that is all nonsense. A deliberative body may seat any of the candidates who were voted for, in any given case, if a contest is made—and the acts of a member so seated are as valid as those of one whose election was unanimous. These are well established facts, and in view of them it will be hard to persuade the people that any one seeking to upset the new Council on the technical informality committed last Monday, is acting for the public good, or with any patriotic motive.

How pathetic is the interest developed by the White-plumed politician as in his wanderings in a far-off land, he discourses so feelingly of the plowman in the furrow deriving strength for his labor from a large quid of "fine-cut," or a succulent "hunk" of "navy plug?" He roars as gently as a sucking dove against the proposition to keep the revenue on the fragrant weed which the miner causes to fume from his pipe at the mouth of some dark hole whence Ohio coal is dug. "Jim's" employés in the Hocking valley, by all accounts, need some solace. But Blaine thinks the line must be drawn somewhere. "Deleterious luxuries," we believe, he used to call these things in the last campaign. The poor man is to have his solace from the soporific opiate contained in the nicotine of the fragrant. But when it comes to the cup that cheers and eke inebriates—"Well, he draws the line at that!" The "deliterious luxury" of the pipe shall be a sacred trust to be held for the poor Hocking Valley miner, but the "deliterious luxury" of the bottle is to be put as far from his weary grasp as can be. Now, ten to one, when Blaine gets home he will be taken for Ben Butler. He will be found to have contracted a strabismic habit of vision, as sure as fate. Just think of the optical strain it must have been while he penned his left-handed "message," with his left eye on the good Maine churchwomen, who favor Prohibition, and his right optic on the foreign vote, to whom he concedes tobacco, on the principle of throwing a tub to a whale. We do not speak of the attempt to keep in view the tobacco growers of the border States. Who shall henceforth say that this "Truthful Jeems" is no a man of large breadth between the eyes?

MR. CLEVELAND'S advancing Fairchild to be Secretary of the Treasury will be approved by the people in all parts of the Union. Mr. Fairchild paid off the National debt at a most surprising pace during the entire period when he had the power. Calls for bonds fell thick and fast until the heavy surplus in the Treasury was reduced to the zero point. It was only when there were no more to call that the dulcet notes of this able official ceased to vibrate on the circumambient air. It was he who then devised the excellent expedient of purchasing bonds in the open market and who thus returned the funds to the channels of trade. The people may rest assured that as a Cabinet officer Mr. Fairchild will prove faithful to the public interests.

SHOULD political complications in Central America upset the plans of the exploiters of the Nicaraguan canal, we need not mourn as if there was no alloy in the pain. By all accounts the building of the Panama canal is mere child's play to what this would be. The Greytown harbor is filled with sand, and there would be no harbor to shelter vessels at the Gulf mouth of the canal. There are three rivers as bad as the Chagres to cross. It would require several locks to get a ship across the Nicaraguan route. And for nearly one hundred miles inland from Greytown the canal would have to be built through a swamp as deep and soft as the Serbonian bog. Whatever question there may be of de Lesseps' wisdom, there seems to be no room for any as to that of those who seriously propose the Nicaraguan route.

THE Fisheries muddle seems hard to settle. As we outlined months ago, an agreement between the Imperial Government of Great Britain and that of the United States is easily reached. But the two powers are not likely to reach any basis of settlement to which the Dominion of Canada will assent. To the United States the whole affair is of the merest bagatelle order. The same is true of England's interest in the matter. Canada wants to make the Fisheries dispute a pons-sic from which to move the United States to grant concessions of a thousand times the value of the fisheries to us. The English Commissioner seems to see the injustice of the demands made by the colony. Probably the best way to deal with the provinces would be to let them have all the fisheries they want and then inaugurate a system of commercial reprisals on their dealings with us. They would speedily see the point and come to their milk.

REPUBLICAN politicians have a strong predilection for Chicago as the place of holding their National Conventions. The first Republican President was named in that city, Mr. Lincoln being also a citizen of the State of Illinois. In the next campaign that Commonwealth will be found to have returned very near to the Democratic fold from which she wandered about that memorable period. The northwest previous to those days was very stubbornly Democratic, and all the Sovereignties in that quarter of the Union are rapidly returning to their first love.

IN short, the Express is of the opinion that more fuss has been made over this matter than its importance deserves, and that, although the error was a serious one, it was not vital. If it was vital let some one who has suffered injustice take the matter into court and obtain redress. If it was not vital, let us go along without complicating matters any further.

The above from our esteemed evening contemporary on the subject of the election, is sound sense again. That is the way to settle the matter. That will be the case in any course of proceedings. Let it rest there.

WANTED—AN EXTRAORDINARY OFfer to all wanting employment—We want, live, energetic agents in every county in the United States and Canada to sell a patent article of great merit on its merits. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents, and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every house-owner, it might not be necessary to make "AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $300 a month clear, and the fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial, and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. No such employers of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double this amount. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one-cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer.

To Eastern Visitors.

Tourists, Eastern visitors, and persons resident in this section should send all their old friends at their old homes a copy of the

ILLUSTRATED HERALD.

This publication contains 48 pages of the most carefully prepared statistical and descriptive matter about all matters of interest in Southern California. The pages are profusely and beautifully illustrated with superb cuts of buildings, scenes, etc., of the country. This medium will convey more information concerning us than any other extant. It was specially prepared for the recent G. A. R. Encampment at St. Louis, and a vast number of the work was distributed there. A small number remains on hand at this office, and these are rapidly growing less. Come in and look at it.

We were highly amused at overhearing the following colloquy between two little girls, playmates, who had been separated a few days on account of the illness of one of them, named Clara. Her friend Bessie remarked to her: "I am so glad to see you out again; I feared we should never play together again." Clara—"I was very sick. Papa was anxious to have a doctor, but mamma said she would rather try Dr. Frese's Hamburg Tea; and as soon as I began to take it I began to feel better. I am glad she gave it to me, for I think it is much nicer to take than the horrid medicine the doctor always gives us." Bessie—"Well, if that is so, I will ask my mamma to get some and have it in the house. I don't like doctor's stuff either."

News Telegraphed from All Parts of the World.

The latest information from Tahlequah, Indian Territory, is that the patience of the Downing party having become exhausted waiting for the Senate to count and declare the vote of the late election for Chief and Assistant Chief of the Nation, they on Wednesday evening swore in Judge Mays as Chief and Sam Smith as Assistant Chief, and then conducted them to the executive office, where the late Chief, Bushyhead, was apprised of the situation and requested to peacefully vacate, which he did. No disturbance ensued, and Chief Mays says that order shall be fully preserved.

The House delegates of Virginia yesterday adopted a joint resolution directing Virginia's Senators and requesting her Representatives in Congress to use their efforts to secure a repeal at an early day of the entire internal revenue system of taxation, and failing in that, to secure, if possible, a repeal of so much of the system as imposes taxes on tobacco and spirits distilled from fruits.

THE RAILWAY WORLD.

Freshest Gossip Along the Tracks.

ROCK ISLAND EXTENSIONS.

Arrangements for the C. & O. Celebration—Progress in the San Joaquin Valley.

The ceremonies attending the driving of the last spike in the California and Oregon Railroad Company are now about completed, and they will be very impressive and elaborate.

The Superintendant of the Southern Pacific's Telegraphic system, Mr. F. L. Vandenburg., has arranged wires so that the sound of each stroke of the hammer as it strikes the spike, will be heard over the entire coast.

At 2:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, December 10th, at Ashland, Or., the last spike will be driven by Mr. Charles T. Crocker, Vice-President of the Southern Pacific System Wires running north to Portland and south to Sacramento and San Francisco will be connected with the hammer, and the time of blows will be announced by the firing of guns, tinkling of bells, etc. All towns along the coast that desire new wires will be granted the privilege. The driving will consist of three blows on the spike, the blows occurring at intervals of ten seconds, each blow closing the telegraphic circuit. After each blow is received at the various points, the telegraphic managers will acknowledge the fact, and after the third tap the word "done," will be sent, and the great northern coast railroad will be completed. Mr. Vandenburgh has made arrangements to have all weather reports sent him early in the day so that he may take all necessary precautions for a successful transmission of the same. At 4 P. M., Friday, the initial train, with General Superintendent Fillmore and party, will leave San Francisco, reaching Ashland about noon the following day.

Freight Tariffs.

Mr. H. B. Wilkens, the Genral Freight and Passenger Agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Company, arrived in this city yesterday morning and spent the day looking around with Mr. Williamson Dunn and Judge Brunson. He has just returned from Chicago and the East, where he has been a delegate to the meeting of railroad freight and passenger agents, who met to form an association of all transcontinental lines.

In an interview with the HERALD'S representative, Mr. Wilkens said:

"It is entirely unnecessary that I should state in detail what was done at the meeting. That has all been thoroughly aired in the newspapers. It is sufficient to say that all who attended the meeting were unanimous in their desire to form the association, and it was formed, though it took two months' time and a change of quarters to New York and back to Chicago to do it. The change in the tariff will go into effect January 2st, 1888, and will amount to an increase of $4 on all first-class freight, and $1.10 on the lowest class. This change is from California to Eastern seaports."

"What about the subsidy to the Pacific Mail Company?"

"I don't know anything about that except what I have read in the papers. I left for home just as soon as the freight business was settled, so that did not affect me in the least."

"How often will the association meet and where?"

"Well, two regular meetings were settled upon by the committee, to be held in Chicago the second Tuesday, in October; of course we are liable to a called meeting at any time, if any thing should need it. But no trouble is anticipated, the members of the association will not permit of any break in its object, which is, as you know, to maintain rates. The object was not so much to put rates up as to give the merchants a steady rate, and this they will now have."

"Did you hear any good railroad news while there? What about California getting some more trans-continental lines?"

"I must confess I did not hear any talk on the subject; passenger and freight agents have no knowledge of what is to be done in the way of construction—they don't bother their heads about it." Mr. Wilkens leaves for San Diego to-day.

Moving the Freight.

Mr. Williamson Dunn exerted himself to the utmost to get the delayed freight of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe company on the move, and now his efforts are being repaid in a most successful manner. One week ago yesterday, he sent Mr. W. W. Crosier, the company's contracting agent, to Albuquerque, N. M., with orders to stay there until he accomplished something satisfactory. Yesterday morning Mr. Crosier notified Mr. Dunn that he had gotten as far back as Coolidge, N. M., where had found about fifty cars in the yards. He got all the cars in Albuquerque safely on the road, and yesterday started twenty-five of the fifty, at Coolidge, on their way to this place. He is visiting every yard where any of the delayed freight has been side-tracked, and is cleaning them out as fast as possible.

Mr. Dunn states that in ten days every bit of the freight should be in the hands of the consignees, unless something unforeseen should happen.

Freight Train Wrecked.

Wednesday night a very peculiar accident occurred to a freight train of the Southern Pacific Company, near Tehachipi, which resulted in a delay of some ten hours to the train due at this city Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock. The accident was caused by the locomotive attached to the train jumping the track and taking several freight cars with it, which were piled up in every conceivable position. Several of the cars were badly damaged, while others were standing on end. The trainmen immediately telegraphed for help to Sumner, and a wrecking train was made up and sent out at once. The track was thoroughly cleared in a few hours and trains are now running as usual.

More Engines.

Mr. C. M. Foulks, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Company's claim agent, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday forenoon to spend some time upon a purely pleasure trip. His headquarters are at Topeka, Kan., where he says the road is doing a great business. He said that the company had given orders for seventy new engines, which were now being constructed as rapidly as possible. They will be used between Los Angeles and Albuquerque, New Mexico, and it is thought this number will effectually prevent any further trouble in handling their traffic.

A Narrow Escape.

The night of the seventh, Conductor Tuppin, in charge of a special freight train on the Southern Pacific Company's lines, had a very narrow escape.

He was putting on a brake when his foot slipped and he fell to the ground between the cars, which were slacking up.

His face was slightly cut, and the toe of one foot was also cut off, while the other foot was badly mashed. He was brought to his home in East Los Angeles, where Dr. Kurtz, the company's surgeon, attended to him.

To Change the Rate.

An effort is being made to induce the Pullman Company to reduce the sleeping-car rates to an equality with those from the East to this city. The rates from Omaha to Ogden over the Union Pacific are $8, and from Ogden to Oakland, over the Central Pacific, $6, a total of $14 for the whole route. This rate is the same charged fifteen years ago. The rate from the Missouri River to this city over the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe line has been recently reduced to $11.50, which is a discrimination.

A New Schedule.

The Southern Pacific people are now hard at work upon a new schedule though it will be at least two weeks before it is ready to go into effect. The principal change will be: No. 19 will leave for the East one hour earlier than at present and No. 20, coming here, will arrive twenty minutes later.

AN OFFICER INJURED.

Policeman Dillon Narrowly Escapes Instant Death.

Officer Arthur Dillon met with quite a severe accident last evening. As he was riding along Main street, near the corner of Fourth, he collided with one of the Milwaukee Furniture store wagons, the pole striking the horse in the breast. Dillon pitched forward and struck on his head and shoulders and the horse fell on him. He was carried into the Milwaukee Furniture store and Doctors Cole and Rush were immediately summoned. They thought that no bones were broken, but found him suffering from a severe concussion of the brain. They did all that was possible for the sufferer, Father Harnett administered the Extreme Unction, after which the ambulance carried him to his house, No. 86, Banning street.

John Steele, the driver of the express wagon with which he collided, stated to a HERALD reporter that he saw Dillon coming in his direction, but thought that they would have no difficulty in passing each other. When he discovered that a collision was almost inevitable, he put on his brake and did everything that he could to check his wagon. It was too late, however, for the officer's horse was already on the pole and the next thing he saw was Dillon thrown to the ground and his horse, which had fallen on its knee, rolled over on to him.

Later in the evening Dillon was reported to be recovering somewhat from the effects of the shock and it was hoped that the results were not so serious as thought at first.

TWO DEATHS.

One Violent and the Other Sudden.

Bricencio Chichinoli, a native of Italy, 42 years of age, met with a sudden death yesterday evening. He was sitting in a street car going towards the Southern Pacific depot, and when near the planing mill on Alameda street, fell off and was either hit by the street car or else was struck by the wheels and received injuries on his head which caused his death. He was picked up but only breathed about twenty minutes. His skull was fractured from the force of its contact with the car or wheels. The driver of the street-car did not see the man fall or did not know that he was hurt until after the accident happened. An inquest will be held to-day.

Last night Coroner Meredith held an inquest on the body of Porter G. Stephens, who died suddenly in the office of the East-Side Champion, in East Los Angeles. Deceased was working on a printing press and was observed to walk toward the door, when he fell and died shortly after. The death was found to be from natural causes and the jury rendered a verdict in accordance.

Milton Nobles.

The Salt Lake Herald of October 18th speaks of Milton Nobles' new play which will be presented at the opera house next week, as follows: Mr. Nobles' new play was followed with the most eager and absorbing attention from the moment the old Wells, Fargo stage, drawn by its two white steeds, swung into sight and threw out a delightful breeze of the old time across the plain's life we all remember so well, up to the drop of the last curtain on the beautiful scene of the tower chamber in the castle on the Rhine. A very strong play has Mr. Nobles evolved this time, and as usual, one that happily hits the happy medium between dress circle and gallery. No other actor and writer that we know of has so strong a faculty of writing up or down to the popular heart without descending to trash. His language is always forcible, healthy and strong; his climaxes intense and naturally wrought, and his characters flesh and blood creations that stand out with life-like prominence.

"Natural Gas."

The pressure on consolidated fizz still keeps up the explosion pitch at the Grand Opera House. A big and delighted audience took in this funny musical Mélange last night. A run of well made up local hits improvised by the company gave additional zest to the fun, as each one called forth uproarious laughter. There will be a grand matinee this afternoon, and to-night closes the season.

Los Angeles Street.

City Attorney Daly states that the last obstacles to the opening and improvement of Los Angeles street are about to be removed. Some time since assessments were levied for this purpose, but the days passed and the property-owners refused to pay. City Attorney Daly has been working on the case, however, and last Tuesday received authority to enter into a stipulation with the property-owners and the probabilities are that the last difference will be settled to-day.

THE PAPER CARNIVAL.

Last Night's Entertainment a Grand Success.

The fourth night of the grand paper carnival was equally as entertaining and successful as those of the previous evenings. A large and enthusiastic audience completely filled the entire building, even the third gallery being crowded with people. The success of the carnival has certainly been thus far most remarkable, and what is more, there is not the slightest sign of weariness upon the parts of those who have been visiting the Pavillion every night. They seem to enjoy looking at everything just as much as do the newcomers.

The programme last night was a particularly interesting one, and elicited continuous applause.

The effect of the brilliant arch lights upon the grand march adds additional beauty to the scene, which, however, hardly needs any such aid to its attractiveness, for too much care and skill has been used in making it perfect. The Grecian tableau was a particularly attractive number on the programme, and the many ladies who took a part in it deserve the thanks of every one present.

The Floral Tableau was another excellent production, on which too much praise cannot be bestowed.

The scarf dance, by Miss Ruthie Green, went to show how entertaining one young lady could prove to thousands of people at a single time.

Part second of the programme opened with a banner dance, which was followed by a tableau representing a camp scene, a surprise by the enemy and the defence.

The entertainment was concluded with a minuet dance by the following children: Misses Ruth Green, Rachie Cohn, Aimee Cohn, Jessie Norton, Lillie Germain, Millie Richards, Pauline Joseph and Julia Joseph.

The programme for to-night promises to be more entertaining than usual, and will be appended that visitors may know beforehand what they will see.

Church Entertainment.

The entertainment given last evening by the young people in the First Congregational Church was a very pleasant affair. The following is the programme:

Prayer by President G. H. Ducay, report of committees and admission of seventeen new members.
Piano duet—By Misses Tingby and Ellis.
Banjo solo—Mr. Monsanto.
Vocal solo—E. W. Doane.
Zuva solo—E. Cuthbert.

A Shooting Chinaman.

Yesterday afternoon Justice Austin's Courtroom was filled by a motley group of Chinamen, who were interested in the examination of Tom Lin, a celestial who is charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon one of his brethren, Chung Hing, at whom it is alleged he fired several shots, but fortunately without effect. Chung Hing claims that he was sitting on the sidewalk, when Tom Lin passed by and kicked his foot. A quarrel ensued, and Tom Lin drew a revolver and fired several shots. The examination will be concluded to-day.

Attempted Suicide.

Andy Dobe, who for the past few days has been on the spree, attempted to commit suicide three times yesterday by hanging, at the Empire Steam Laundry, where he has been at work; and but for the timely interference of the employés no doubt would have put an end to his career.

The Schafer Sale.

WINTER WEATHER.

A December Sunday in California.

FAIR ANAHEIM VIEWS.

Rich Plains, Snow-Capped Mountains and Eternal Sunshine all Combined.

A HERALD representative who usually works all days in the week, including Sunday, and all weeks in the year, including midsummer and the Christmas holidays, was in great luck last Saturday night. At least so he considered himself when told he might have a "day out" on Sunday. Thinking where he should go to squander his one holiday, Anaheim came into his head as a pleasant place to spend a day. Getting his Saturday night's work well up, and enlisting the interest of a collaborateur to do the rest, away he hied on the late train of Saturday. He found a solid train of four coaches full of people all agog for the south end of the county.

AT ANAHEIM.

Transferring himself from the train to the street car, the newspaper pleasure seeker found about twenty-five other tourists, commercial and otherwise, all bound with him for the Planter's hotel to interview mine host Mason and his cook, especially the cook. Next morning, refreshed and ready for the fray, the pencil-pusher awoke, betimes he did, and having performed his ablutions, external and internal—the latter if not in a cask of malmsey, yet outside of something pleasant—he stepped at last into the open air.

A GLORIOUS MORNING.

The warm glow of golden sunshine filled the sky and air, and bathed the land as genial as the loveliest day in June. The birds were all making the space sonorous with glad songs. The breezes of the zephyr's gentlest touch set the leaves of the orange groves just a tremble, and the golden spheres like the fabled apples of the Hesperides, glistened like gold amid the rich waxy sheen of the foliage.

RICH ANAHEIM.

Far southward spread the broad, rich plain embracing vineyards, orange groves, rich pastures, orchards—the most fertile and varied in its resources in the world. Some fifteen miles away the Pacific lay pulsating and gleaming in the golden sunlight, from his broad breast come these gentle winds loaded to repletion with life-giving ozone, pure, invigorating, health-restoring, youth-giving, as would have been the springs of eternal youth, had Ponce de Leon been able to find them.

THE EVERLASTING HILLS.

All around the north side of the valley the great mountains rose to grand heights, and on their world-old brows they lifted to the skies their snows of countless years. The sun lit up their ridges with such glorious brightness as the imagination pictures on the white heights of Paradise. The shadows slept in the valleys as peacefully as Bunyon's pilgrim saw them on the "Delectable mountains" in his progress to Heaven.

Indeed a more beautiful prospect never stretched before the eyes of man than the landscape which lay all around the rich old "mother colony" on the day in question. No spot even in this semi tropic paradise can boast of any more fascinating picture than was there presented. The rains had started the grasses. The orange groves were washed clean of dust, the roads were hard and clean, the temperature was of that absolutely perfect degree which makes life seem worth living for. Lowell asks:

"And what so perfect as a day in June."

The answer is last Sunday at Anaheim was as perfect as any day that ever rose out of the night in the "leafy mouth of June."

NOTES OF PROGRESS.

Things are stirring at Anaheim. The new railroad is graded through the town, across the wash, through Fullerton, west through Orangethorpe to the Coyote House, and will soon be up on the mesa shooting straight for the springs. The Hotel Del Campo contract is let to the Albrecht Bros., an Anaheim firm, and it will be finished in ninety days. Then Anaheim will have three fine hotels. The Sisters are waiting anxiously for a deed from the Dreyfus estate to their lots in order that they may proceed with the building of their academy. The Town Trustees are about to lay water pipes along Cypress street for a distance of several thousand feet. The water company is pushing things on their big reservoir.

A company of railroad contractors with a large force of men from Colorado is expected every day to go on with grading the railroad from Anaheim to Orange. This company will construct the big bridge over the Santa Ana river. Progress is reported on the proposed new road from Anaheim to the landing. Capitalists in San Francisco and Los Angeles have had their interest enlisted in the project. It is sure to go through at an early day. Its advantages to Anaheim will be very great. The Del Campo people are laying cement sidewalks along their tract, Center street is being graded, new houses are seen going up all around the town, and in the country up by North Anaheim and Placentia as well. The new hotel at Fullerton is nearly finished, and will soon be open to guests. Newcomers from the Western States are coming in rapidly and settling in the towns of Anaheim, in Fullerton, at Placentia and all around the country.

ANAHEIM TO THE FRONT.

The attractions of Anaheim and its vicinity are becoming well known. The pure climate, excellent soil, perfect drainage, absence of dust, abundance of water and such elements of the situation are getting to be well understood. Should people recognize the fact that property is held here at less than fifty per cent. of the prices held in other places, they see that as water seeks its level, the intrinsic value of lands at Anaheim will push prices up to the ranges of the other most eclectic spots in Los Angeles County, and that there will be a big day of reckoning with a large balance in favor of those who buy now.

Well, the new hotels at Anaheim and Fullerton will be finished soon, and when they are the newsgatherer will beg another day off, go to Anaheim and spend it pleasantly again. By the by, on Christmas eve Captain Keith will have a big rabbit hunt, perhaps that may be the day. Although the hotels will not be quite open yet, the novelty of the rabbit round-up will do.

DAILY HERALD.

A LARGE SALE

To a Syndicate of Heavy Capitalists.

Dr. J. V. Stillman has sold 280 acres of land at Lugonia to a syndicate consisting of the following: A. N. Towne, General Superintendent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, San Francisco; Colonel Wendell Easton and O. D. Baldwin, Esq., San Francisco; Messrs. Charles E. Galt, F. Sabichi, J. W. Woolfskill and Geo. W. Frink, Los Angeles; Messrs O. F. Griffen, James Page and J. M. Howard, of Pomona, and F. B. Wilde, of San Diego. The company paid $125,000 purchase price, and will proceed to improve the tract at once. Water is now on the property in two reservoirs, supplied from the Bear Valley system, and a contract was signed yesterday morning with John D. Hooker, of this city, to furnish pipe for the entire tract. It will be approached by two lines of rail oad: (1.) By a branch of the California Southern from San Bernardino to Redlands and Lugonia; (2) By a belt of the Southern Pacific from Pomona to Lugonia via San Bernardino. The first of these lines is now building and is completed nearly as far as Redlands. It will pass within one-eighth of a mile of the tract. The Southern Pacific line now has right of way secured, and has deeds for a terminal depot property in the centre of the tract 2000 by 600 feet.

Oak, Pine and Mesquit Wood

Fifty thousand dollars spent in perfecting the water system of the Porter Land and Water Co. at San Fernando, and an inspection will show that no system in the valley can compete with it. The company can give any amount desired. Go see for yourself. Office at San Fernando, or First and Spring, Los Angeles.

San Fernando defies competition in the citrus fruit lands. She defies anybody to find a scale bug in the valley or a finer climate anywhere. It would pay to go and see the old Mission, even if one does not want land. Recollect, water in quantities desired by purchaser guaranteed and shown to be already flowing.

Water is king in California. Strangers should beware of deception about this indispensable article. Citrus fruits can't be raised without it. Many sellers promise water but few can show it and guarantee it. The Porter Land and Water Co., First and Spring streets, invite inspection of their lands and water at San Fernando.

W. O. Tuggle, LaGrange, Ga., writing about Darbys Prophylactic Fluid, says: "It is a priceless jewel as a disinfectant and deodorizer. My Wife states for the benefit young mothers that it is a valuable adjunct to the nursery." It is equally so to parents traveling with children. Not only is the Fluid invaluable as a deodorizer, but a few drops added to the water in bathing will remove all eruptions from the skin, chafing, etc., and greatly refresh and soothe.

The Bon Ton Bath Rooms

THE HOTEL DEL CORONADO, CORONADO BEACH, SAN DIEGO COUNTY, CAL.

The magnificent building, of which the above illustration is a correct representation, covers 7½ acres, and is larger than any edifice of a similar character in the world. It is extremely difficult to appreciate its colossal proportions. No caravansary of the ancients or hostelry of modern times, can compare with it in extent or perfection of its arrangements, or can yield the same degree of comfort, elegance and refined enjoyment as it is prepared to furnish to its guests. It stands without a rival in the world—proudly overlooking the placid waters of the great Pacific, and impresses upon the mind of every beholder its grandeur, its immensity, and its magnificence as a structure. It is remarked by all who see it as one of the wonders of this wonderful age, and regarded as a credit to our great Commonwealth.

Progress and improvement have been almost limitless during the past quarter of a century. The marked changes that have been produced and the wonderful improvement that have been brought about by the use of steam, electricity, and other forces, have been of such magnitude that the world seems in that brief period to have entirely changed, so that the impossibilities of that time are accomplished now with the greatest ease. No department in life, however, has attained a higher degree of excellence than architecture has, or has kept so well up in the forward march, as may be witnessed in the very beautiful designs of modern structures, of which the above hotel is a most praiseworthy and highly creditable evidence. The style of architecture adopted in this mammoth hotel, is a grand conception, being a happy combination not confined to any particular age or school. While partaking largely of what is readily recognized as the Queen Anne style, it at the same time shows many of the quaint and formal features of the Elizabethan order of architecture. These styles have been improved, however, by being modeled so as to accord with the modern American idea of architectural symmetry and beauty—adopting the best of what has appeared before, irrespective of the age or school to which it belongs. Apart from the architectural splendor of the building, there is a winning fascination in the vicinity and its varied attractions, the purity of the atmosphere and the beauty of the view, which seems irresistibly to draw strangers and visitors to this point.

The building, which ranges from three to five stories in height is so admirably arranged that every bedroom is penetrated and warmed by the genial rays of the sun during some part of the day. The verandahs and porches facing the ocean are encased in glass, thus just the atmosphere desired can be obtained. The general form of the building is that of a parallelogram, built around a grand court 250x150 feet in size; and it is unequaled in splendor as it is in the space it occupies. Here the glorious sun has full play on the tender leaves of the rare exotics, on the white marble of the chaste statuary and on the cool and glistening waters which flow from the splendid fountains that adorn the grounds, which are planted with many beautiful varieties of ornamental shrubs and trees, including some of the most delicate of tropical productions. In the appointments and furnishings of the rooms, there will be an artistic harmony observed in the color of the furniture and carpets to suit the various apartments for which they have been designed, and the whole building will be brilliantly lighted by incandescent electric lights. Each department will be so managed and the standard of perfection so nearly attained, as to satisfy the most exacting guest.

The Following Shows the Area and Capacity of the Principal Rooms, which Number 750:

Seating Capacity of Dining Room, 1,000.	Height of Dining Room Ceiling, 33 feet.	Area of Breakfast Room, 4,800 feet.
Area of Restaurant Surface, 2,500 feet.	A number of Private Dining Rooms.	Area of Theatre and Ball Room, 11,000 feet.
Total Area of Building, 7½ Acres.	Four 85 foot Bowling Alleys.	Twenty Billiard Tables.
	Observatory 120 feet high.

Coronado Heights.

The Pasadena of San Diego, and Charming Suburbs of Coronado Beach.

Look out for the Auction Saturday, December 31st.

To be conducted by the Pacific Land Bureau.

The grand plateau, situated about 4 miles south of Cornado Beach, where this new and delightful townsite is being laid out and the streets and avenues are now being planted and ornamented with trees, shrubs and evergreens, occupies, beyond comparison, the most eligible and the finest position to be found anywhere on the beautiful bay of San Diego or along the shores of our majestic ocean, the great Pacific. On this elevated and lovely location the young city can sit enthroned in splendor, overlooking all other suburban places. They can but look up in admiration, and must, perhaps gracefully, yield the palm and glory to this, the brightest gem of Southern California.

What lends additional grandeur to this scene of exquisite beauty is the framework of this uncommon picture, formed by the white and glistening sands of the seashore, and by the placid blue waters of the beautiful bay.

No dread need be felt there because winter is approaching; no death-dealing winds come there, and no intolerable cold. But the pure elixir of life constantly inhaled, presents to the invalid a new lease "FREE GRATIS."

Coronado Heights will stand at the head of the list of all seaside resorts for health, pleasure and beauty.

The grand and picturesque surroundings, together with the splendid facilities for the full enjoyment of bathing in the surf or still water, boating and fishing on the bay, gunning, and other recreations in the mountains, all add to the claim this locality is entitled to as one of the most pleasant and charming all the-year-round, sea side resorts on the Pacific Coast. As the old Spanish Parde say of it:—"Ese es un lugar hermosisimo," "that is a most delightful place."

For full information and further particulars, apply to the CORONADO BEACH CO., SAN DIEGO.

Coronado Heights,

PICTURESQUE AND ALTOGETHER LOVELY.

NEAR MOUNTAIN, BAY AND SHORE.

This magnificent townsite is the property of the Coronado Beach Company, under whose auspices it is being placed on the market. It will prove to be the grandest success of the day.

It will have three different means of communication—a motor line, a steamer and a fine turnpike road, besides the drive along the beach, a most charming one, which can be extended for a distance of some twenty miles.

Nearly 100 teams are now actively engaged in grading for the new motor line, three miles of which are already finished and the steel rails are being laid.

Trains will be running between Coronado Beach and Coronado Heights in a few days.

A new and handsome steamer will be running between Coronado Heights and San Diego, making regular and quick trips, long before January 1, 1888.

Water is being piped all over the plateau, which will bloom like a garden.

For the speculator it will prove to be the biggest bonanza of the present day, and for the homeseeker it will be a boon indeed.

Nature has done much for the Coronado Heights, the beauties of which captivate all who see them.

HESPERIA.

The Denver of California!

HESPERIA is located in San Bernardino County, on the main line of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, and about 25 miles north of San Bernardino. The situation is most beautiful, the town being in the Hesperia Valley, surrounded by the San Bernardino Mountains on the south and the Hesperia Mountains on the north. The valley is about 3000 feet above the level of the sea.

There is a great abundance of the finest quality of water. The Company has already spent upwards of $200,000, in perfecting its waterworks. Water is brought from a pure mountain stream eleven miles away, being conducted in a large canal cut through the rock in the mountain side and through seven miles of steel and iron pipes to the town. There is water enough to meet all requirements for a large city and for 100,000 of acres of land beside. Lands have been set apart for the benefit of a school fund, and a schoolhouse is to be commenced at once. The company offers generous inducements for the building of churches. A complete system of sewerage has been begun. Capital for a bank has been fully subscribed. Work is to be at once begun upon many substantial residences and business blocks. Gas and electric light plants are to be put in by the company. A horsecar line and motor railway will be built by the company to run through the tract. A neat and attractive station is to be built. Beautiful parks and boulevards will be laid out. The principal business and residence streets will be paved, and cement sidewalks will be laid. A first-class weekly paper will be published at Hesperia, the initial number to appear early in December. All that intelligence, energy and capital can do to build up a town will be done for Hesperia. Hesperia combines the altitude scenery and commercial advantages of Denver, with the climate and soil of the best portions of Southern California. The development of water in this great valley marks a new era in the progress and growth of Southern California—extending its productions and planting a city whose future will be second to none in this part of the State. It will pay anyone to investigate the above statements of simple fact.

A Triple Alliance.

Unhappily for the wretched victim of their assaults, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness are faithful allies. When one of these foes attack the system, the other two speedily follow in its wake and successively make their onslaught. Successively, but not successfully, if Hostetter's Stomach Bitters be used to repel the onset. The Bitters as easily extirpates these monsters as St. George is depicted in the act of doing to the dragon in the steel vignette upon the glass bottles which contain the medicine. Their flight, like their advance, is nearly simultaneous. Their mutuality destroyed, they precipitately retreat, leaving health master of the position and strongly entrenched by the Bitters. This grand fortifier is also a reliable bulwark against the insidious assaults of malarial disease, and stops the approach of rheumatism. It moreover relieves nervous complaints and imparts vigor to the weak.

Glendora, the Beautiful.

Transfers of real estate yesterday amounted to $221,963, and were 121 in number. Of these 26 were for a nominal consideration.

Mention should be made of the fine model horse, loaned for the Washington tableary on Wednesday night by Myron F. Tarbell, the saddler of Los Angeles.

A Crazy German.

A German, who has been working for the past few days on a dairy-farm in this city, was noticed Thursday afternoon, by his employer, to be acting queerly. He was watched and it soon leaked out that the poor fellow had gone mad. An officer was dispatched from the police station, and found the German rolling about on the road at the corner of Temple and Fort streets. When the officer (Arguello) approached he shrieked frantically, kicked and tried to bite. An express w gon was procured and Arguello, with the assistance of three men, conveyed him to the police station. Here he made a great fuss and was taken by Sergeant Jeffries and Arguello to the county jail. While being unhandcuffed he shrieked hysterically and attempted to bite the officers.

Baseball.

On Sunday next the Sixth street ball grounds will be crowded to their utmost capacity, for the St. Louis Browns are to play against the Los Angeles club. A year ago the St. Louis Browns were the champions of the world, having won the victory over the White Stockings, of Chicago. This year they were not so fortunate, but they bring with them some well-known men. It is suggested that the side seats be repaired before the game. At present they are in a dangerous condition. There are not enough seats on the grounds, and the east fence could serve as a background for a long row, which could be erected at very little expense.

The Paper Carnival will close this evening, and those having it in charge are determined to wind it up right royally. Go early if you want seats.

CONSUMPTION!

ASTHMA BRONCHITIS, CATARRH,

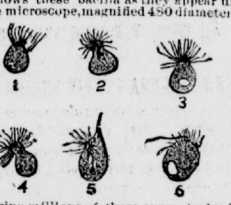

And other diseases of the organs of respiration, treated by the

ANDRAL-BROCA SYSTEM OF MEDICAL INHALATION,

AND GENERAL TREATMENT

Catarrh of Nose and Throat.

I do not claim that I can cure every case of catarrh, but I do claim that my method will cure the large majority of cases after all other means have failed. The cure is permanent, as can be proven by cases which can be referred to, treated three years ago in this city, with no return of the disease. The fact is now admitted by the best medical writers that chronic catarrh is caused by the presence of living parasites, microscopical in size, in the tissues The cut below shows these bacilla as they appear under the microscope, magnified 480 diameters.

Imagine millions of these anamalculæ in the nose, throat and lungs, as well as the minute eustachian tubes leading from the back part of the throat to the middle ear and you will imagine the misery they can produce. Some go as far as to claim that these insects may penetrate into the brain, and thus cause the distressing headache that is not unfrequently present in bad cases of catarrh.

My method of treatment is to use such remedies as will destroy these parasites for local treatment, and at the same time regulate any abnormal condition (such as impure blood or disordered liver, which will predispose to the development of the catarrh germs,) by the proper constitutional remedies. Every case will be relieved by this treatment, patients often seeing improvement from one treatment to the next, and every case can be cured where the blood is not so thoroughly diseased that no treatment will benefit it. The local treatment is always painless, and can be used at home with very little trouble and no detention from business.

Medical Advocates of Inhalation

Professor Hueber, of the Berlin University, on page 295 of his "Practice," says: "Diseases of the lungs and air-passages present the proper field for the use of inhaled remedies, and the success of inhalation in this class of maladies often seems little short of the miraculous."

Sir Andrew Stewart, writing on "Pulmonary Consumption," says: "By this method (inhalation) the proper selected remedies are made to act on the immediate seat of the disease with most favorable results, far exceeding even the claims of the first advocates of inhalation.

Dr. Fordyce Baker says: "Inhalation when employed by a physician of skill and experience, yields an extraordinary large percentage of cures in diseases of the air passages. It is unfortunate that so few ordinary practioners have had the training necessary to the use of this method."

Dr R. Hamilton, of the London Hospital for Diseases of the Chest on page 109 of his work on "Diseases of Respiration," says: "Medical inhalation, with proper constitutional treatment, affords the only hope in the great majority of these cases."

CATARRH!

Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption,

Together with Diseases of the Eye, Ear and Heart Successfully Treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D. M. C. P. S. O.

273 N. MAIN STREET,

A few doors south of the New Post Office, Los Angeles, Cal.

Consumption can be cured. This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by DR WILLIAMS, with his new system of medicated inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

CATARRH.

To those who are afflicted with any of the different forms of Catarrh, we would say, there is no disease which presents a greater diversity of symptoms, none more loathsome, insidious, and dangerous as Nasal Catarrh, especially if complicated as it almost always is, even from its first appearance, with an affection of the throat.

From the earliest symptoms (which are generally attributed to a "cold in the head") to the various ugly and distressing stages through which the disease passes the patient is hopeful of recovery, and rarely gives it proper attention until certain alarming symptoms present themselves, denoting unmistakably the rapid advance of the malady to the lungs. Indeed, so various are the symptoms that the presence of the disease is not always known, or even suspected, until it has reached a stage difficult to arrest. The disease may or may not be attended by a discharge from the nostrils or throat; but there is usually present a morbid secretion and a frequent disposition (especially in the morning) to clear the throat, and the effort to do so is often, though not always, attended by expectoration; there is a sensation of heaviness in the frontal part of the head, and the brain sometimes suffers to an extent producing headache, vertigo and confusion; it becomes difficult to think clearly and to concentrate the mind; the memory becomes impaired and the intellect enfeebled; despondency of spirits and an excitable condition of the nervous system. Such is the effect of the disease, and if this train symptoms (which not infrequently leads to insanity or idiocy) we add many of the more loathsome physical effects, as caries, or rottenness of the bones of the face and head, a most offensive smell to the breath, and corrupt, morbid and poisonous secretions, destruction or serious injury to the sense of smell, hearing, sight and taste, we have a catalogue of horrors which would lead any person to make early and proper efforts to eradicate the disease from the system. Every case of Catarrh is curable if properly treated.

BRONCHITIS.

Acute Bronchitis is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary diseases. It is a dangerous disease, as it prevents the oxygenation of the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved, giving rise to what is very properly called Bronchial Consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable sneezing, severe cough and expectoration. This is at first a watery mucous, which after a time becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great; the skin is clammy and prostration rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the mucous membranes of the bronchial tubes. When a cold settles on the lungs the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis it usually passes off as a cold on the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath, with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucus, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs or chronic bronchitis.

In the later stage of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucous membrane becomes congested and inflamed. There are no cavities nor tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucous, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take a cold, at which time the mucous becomes clear and frothy, and it is not uncommonly the case that the patient dies in one of these attacks.

CONSUMPTION.

From consumers, "to waste away," usually applied to the advanced stage of lung disease.

The following are prominent symptoms in the first stage, and wherever any of them exist a thorough examination should be made with a view to arresting the disease if shown to exist: There is usually a sense of weariness upon a little exercise, a disposition to remain passive and idle, despondency, often from no apparent cause, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effect of cold, and a breathlessness on moving quickly or descending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasions, flying pains across the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades. The symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night, slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet or hands, or in many cases blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger nails

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success. The very best references from those already cured

CONSULTATION FREE.—Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address
